Will Remove Grass Plot In Highway

The widening of South Main street as it passes the Phillips academy campus has received final approval by the state and it is expected that ground will be broken for this long-needed improvement early next spring.

Plans issued by the state department of public works, which has called for bids on the project, show that the street will be widened from the present end of the state highway for a distance of about 1400 feet northerly to Wheeler street, including some widening at the intersection of School street.

The improvement calls for a divided highway at the academy campus with traffic islands to facilitate the passage of students across the traveled way. The estimated cost of the project is between $40,000 and $50,000.

The local board of public works will assist in the work by raising the sewer manholes and water gates along this section of the street.

The main part of the project, however, will be the removal of a traffic hazard caused by the grass plot that juts into the street from Chapel avenue to a point beyond the academy. This section of the road, owned by the town, was

Almanac Sees Winter Ahead As Turbulent

The Old Farmer's Almanac with its familiar yellow cover and numerous pages of unusual features is out again with its 1954 edition.

One of the most interesting features is the annual prediction of next winter's weather. Abe Weatherwise, the Almanac's forcaster, is so close that his annual summary is always eagerly awaited.

For the 1953-54 winter season he says: "Turbulent, erratic, many storms of rain, snow and sleet." He adds the note that the considered opinion of many authorities that winters are growing milder will not be exemplified in next winter's weather.

In the italics running down the calendar pages it is noted that early in April the "storm of the year, far and near" is predicted, but immediately afterward "spring is here, have no fear."

This 162nd annual continuation has its usual advice to farmers as well as its items of wisdom together with astronomical data of general interest, cooking recipes, photographs, advertising and a wealth of useful information.

Snow Plow-Mower Costly To Town

What appears to have been an act of false economy in the town meeting of 1952 is brought to light in the statement which Tree Warden G. R. Abbott has made regarding a piece of roadway equipment bought to serve both the tree department and the board of public works.

The tree department went before the town meeting in 1952 with an article calling for an appropriation of $1600 for a new tractor with mower equipment for cutting brush at the roadside.

The meeting voted, however, to combine that with an article which the BPW had asking for $2200 for the purchase of a rubber tired tractor with snow plow attachments, the equipment to be used in winter time by the BPW and in the summer time by the tree department.

Tree Warden Abbott now says: "A tractor roadside mower was purchased by the town in 1946 to clear and maintain our roadsides next to the traveled way. For six years it performed some of the heaviest, roughest, kind of work but accomplished a great change to our roadsides, eliminated dangerous driving conditions, greatly improved the appearance of our roads and helped the work of the men who plow our roads of snow.

"This tractor was also a great help to the tree department at other times of the year. Clearing our yard of snow, eliminating hard shoveling and performing other heavy work connected with tree maintenance.

"In 1952 when a new tractor was needed the town meeting decided to combine the use of a tractor between the tree department and the board of public works. The tree department to use it in summer mowing roadsides and the B.P.W. in winter to plow sidewalks of snow. It seemed good in theory but it has worked out as a costly arrangement for the town. "The tractor had to be cut down in width to be used as a sidewalk plow. It was necessary to take the rear end apart and send it to New York to be cut to size. This cost $400. The front axle had to be cut and shortened and the steering parts changed.

"In the summer of 1953 the tractor was again changed so it could be operated with a roadside mower. It was necessary to replace the shortened rear end with standard parts. This cost the town about $150. In operating as a roadside mower the changed over tractor took up the attention of the operator it steered so hard even on the roads, on a slope it would pull into the gutter if not stopped in time. Breakage of parts was so heavy and expensive operating this ungainly machine that the work was stopped before all roadside mowing was finished.

"The tractor has been returned to the BPW to be changed back for sidewalk plowing.

"The town would gain by furnishing the tree department with a good tractor mower instead of spending several hundred changing the present tractor over twice a year."

An Outstanding Official

The town will lose a very capable official when Roy A. Hardy relinquishes his duties as selectman and assessor next March.

His unexpected announcement that he would not seek any elective office when his present term expires came as a distinct surprise to the large number of townspeople who know of his long and effective service as a public official devoted to the best interests of Andover.

As a selectman, member of the board of public welfare, and as assessor he gave generously of his time regularly for 18 years to serve the town of his birth. A graduate of Pynchard, Phillips academy and the Massachusetts Institute of Technology he brought to these offices a background of education and training that aptly fitted him to conduct the many-sided affairs that come before such boards for consideration.

Those who have had business to transact at the town house found him accessible and ready to go over in detail any matters that needed clarification. Those who knew him only through town meetings were impressed with his grasp of town affairs and his clear answers to questions concerning many departments.

It was, perhaps, as an assessor that his special talents soon brought him to the fore in municipal affairs. In this field he was soon recognized throughout the state as an authority and was called upon often to address assessors on this subject.

A high tribute to his abilities as a municipal officer and assessor came to him only a few days ago from Henry F. Long, recently retired as commissioner of corporations and taxation for the Commonwealth of Massachusetts.

In a letter to Mr. Hardy regarding the testimonial dinner the selectmen's association tendered Mr. Long a short time ago, the latter expressed his appreciation "for being associated with you" for a substantial number of years, and added in handwriting, "Hardy is tops in my book forever. Long."

The town will miss the services he has so long given to its interests, and while he has no comment to make on future plans we know that the affairs of Andover will still be close to his heart and feel that as time goes on he very often will be called upon for information and advice on public matters.

He leaves an excellent record as a town official. May his successor do likewise.

The problem of a left-handed child in a right-handed world is one which has occupied psychologists—and parents—for a good many years. Should the child be forced to change? Should he be left alone?

Dr. Gertrude Hildreth, a university psychologist who has made an exhaustive study of left-handedness, believes that children are not born left-handed. At a fairly early age a child may show a preference for the right or left hand—but it is only a preference.

For this reason, Dr. Hildreth believes that it is important to begin training a child to use his right hand while he is in the crib-and-high-chair stage, before the preference becomes a deeply engrained habit, if you wish to train him at all. Here are a few ways this can be done:

Always place toys or silverware near his right hand—but never take them out of his left hand, once he has them there. Hanging rattles and other toys on the right side of the crib or carriage may encourage the baby to use his right hand. A toy watch or bracelet on the right wrist may draw attention to the right hand.

However, if the child persists in using the left hand he should be allowed to do so. Constant criticism may make him feel he is "different" and can lead to personality problems such as stuttering when he starts school.

DECLARE HAPPY HOME BASIS OF EDUCATION

home; the child spends years with his family before formal teaching is presented to him, or he is subjected to it, as you may prefer. The crying need today is for a happy, friendly, co-operative, and respectable home life. We feel that this is the basis of education for any child, and we call upon all the parents to lay the foundation for the success of their children in school, in church, and in good citizenship.

Gil Leaf was top skipper of the S.S.C. junior coaches and Lea Pendleton the winning skipper among the junior coaches. Holly Allen of Andover Central won the natural aptitude tray, Prudence Bridges won the greatest effort plate, while Cecily Roberts won the improvement and effort prize.

In the Saturday morning interscholastics of 15 schools Polly Hogan won the Mildred Wood plaque. Bob Blomquist retired the Walter Wood tray for three consecutive wins in the annual trophy for winning at MIT in the Tech Dinghies, and won one-third of the Capt. Keating plaque for outstanding sailing away from home. The other two skippers to share this award were from Roxbury Latin and St. Sebastian's.

Harvard Fresh was the top college team in the Sunday school-college meets, and Huntington the top preparatory school, both seconds to S.S.C. varsity sailors in the Wee Nip division. Walnut Hill school claimed the major honor of no rules violations and Dana Hall won a race by the greatest margin.

Andover skippers lost the Turner cup and the afternoon interscholastics. They also lost to Marblehead in the S.S.C. skipper ratings but outsailed the latter in the Turnabout division of the Wee Nip series.

The following diplomas were awarded: Full skipper ratings with privilege of team tryout Saturday morning: Susan Brennan, David Simpson, Robert Sides Jr., Carolyn Kimball, Fred Kent, Gil Leaf, Gates Poore, Cecily Roberts, Craig

Roberts and Dave Goldman; ratings of ordinary seaman and mate, Prudence Bridges, Randy Richmond; ratings of seaman, Margie Allen, Faith Critchley, Carol Clements, Willy Simpson, George Stern, Victoria Morgan, Nancy Cole, Ginny Pratt and Brook Teal.

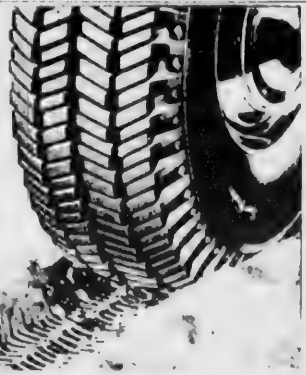

The final meet of the season was held yesterday.

Tough, Strong Alloys

Nickel alloy steels are used for many parts of airplanes, trucks, tractors, buses, steam shovels, boats and freight cars because they provide the greater toughness and strength necessary to permit these components to stand up under repeated heavy shocks and strains.

Watson Starred At Northeastern

Sid Watson, former Punchard star who is acknowledged one of the best all-around football players in New England small college ranks, has completed a very successful season as fullback for Northeastern U.

In the seven games played he carried 108 times and gained a total yardage of 768, an average of better than 100 yards a game. For this reason he has earned the nickname of "Century Sid," and has gained high tributes from rival coaches.

He not only starred on offense but was very effective on defense where he either backed up the line, played halfback or safety man.

It was his first season as offensive back during which time he scored 74 points, 10 touchdowns and 14 extra points, a Northeastern record.

Ancient By-Laws Show Town Life Of Other Days

It is against the law to frighten any horse in any public place in Andover or to let any grazing beast feed by the roadside.

It is also against the law to sprinkle salt on the tracks of any street railway in the town or to fly a balloon in any public street.

These ancient laws, for which transgressors may be fined $20, are still in the town's by-laws together with several others of a similar antiquated nature. Although most of the sections in Article IV, in which they are found, are now just about obsolete, they are interesting inasmuch as they throw a light on the life of the town that many still remember and show how far we have come from the conditions that existed here only a few years ago.

Here are some of the sections in that Article:

Sec. 1. No person shall suffer horses, grazing beasts or swine to run at large or feed by the roadside.

Sec. 2. No person shall behave in an indecent or disorderly manner, or use profane, indecent, or insulting language, in any public place, or on any sidewalk or street in the town.

Sec. 3. No person shall by any noise, or other means wantonly or designedly frighten any horse in any street or other public place in the town.

Sec. 4. No person shall continue to stand or remain alone or with others near, on any sidewalk or in any public place, in such manner as to obstruct a free passage for travellers thereon, or loiter on any sidewalk or street after having been requested by a constable or police officer to move on.

Sec. 5. No person shall put, place, or pile wood lumber, stones, or other materials within the limits of any public street or way within the town, without written permission of the selectmen.

Sec. 6. No person shall sprinkle, scatter, or put upon any sidewalk, crossing or street, or upon the rails, switches, or other appliances of a street railway in any street, any salt or mixture of salt, except in accordance with a permit from the selectmen.

Sec. 7. No person shall make any bonfire or other fire, or kick football, or play at any game in which a ball is used, or fly a kite or balloon, or throw stones or snowballs, or other missiles, in any public street or way in the town.

Sec. 8. No person shall bathe or swim in waters within the town so as to be exposed in a nude state to the view of any persons passing or being on any street or railroad or in any dwelling house.

Sec. 9. No person shall coast or slide on any sled or other like vehicle in or upon any public sidewalk or street or way in the town except at such times and in such places as may from time to time be designated by the selectmen.

Section 10 allows the selectmen to grant a license for any person to obstruct a sidewalk for a limited time for the erection or repair of a building.

Sec. 11. No person shall be allowed to throw posters, handbills, flyers, advertising sheets, waste or rubbish in the public streets or ways.

Under Article VI, Sec. 2 reads: Every violation of any of the foregoing by-laws shall be punished by a fine of not more than $20.

In their eagerness to make things go as far as possible, some people will even stretch the truth.

REGRET HARDY TO LEAVE OFFICE

Some of these sentiments are expressed by friends and officials in the following statements made to The Townsman.

James F. Robjont, president of the Andover Taxpayers' association said:

"The Andover Taxpayers' association regrets that Mr. Hardy has found it necessary to bring to a conclusion his services as chairman of the board of selectmen of Andover.

"Our relationship with Mr. Hardy over the past years has been extremely cordial and gratifying, his help having been invaluable to us on many occasions.

"We wish Mr. Hardy continued good fortune on his role of private citizen and we trust that we will be able to call upon him for advice in the future should the occasion arise."

Harold E. Heseltine, president of the Andover Board of Trade and representative of the business interests of the town, said:

"The Andover Board of Trade has learned with regret the decision of Mr. Hardy that he would not seek elective office at the election next March.

"We have long appreciated his service in the civic affairs of the town and feel that his efforts have always been to serve the best interests of all.

"The board feels that he not only acted well in matters concerning the people's interests in local affairs but was also an outstanding representative of Andover in presenting its problems in circles outside the town."

Atty. James H. Eastham, who has served with Mr. Hardy on the board of appeals, stated:

"As one of Roy Hardy's many friends in this community, I should like to pay tribute to him upon the occasion of his announcement of retirement from elective office next March. By comparison with others of his friends, I have known him a short time - only since 1936 when we first served together on the board of appeals under the Andover Zoning law, but I feel as though we have known each other all our lives. He is that kind of an individual, inspiring confidence and respect and friendship in all who work with him and know him. We have all been fortunate in having such an outstanding individual with enough interest in the welfare of Andover to spend nearly a score of years in our public service.

"No one could serve with Roy upon any board or committee without falling under the spell of his genial and warm personality. To know him is to respect and like him. He is reserved but friendly in his personal associations, clear-thinking and honest in the exercise of his public duties, calm and even in disposition, loyal and untiring in his devotion to duty. In my close association with him in his service to Andover, I have never seen him lose his temper or consider his personal interest when carrying out his public duties.

DID YOU KNOW?

ties, I have never seen him fail to preserve that fair judicial attitude which is so essential to the administration of laws requiring careful and constant adjustment of conflicting private interests.

"No one could observe Roy's action at meetings of the board of selectmen or of the board of appeals or on the platform in the school auditorium at town meetings without being impressed by his intelligence, moderation, and devotion to duty. He has unselfishly devoted himself to Andover affairs regardless of criticism which has often been unfair. He has been abused and has come up smiling. He has been praised and applauded without losing his modesty.

"He has thought only of the good of the town, disregarding pressures which he felt were not for the best interests of the town's people and giving freely of his time and energy in performing those tasks for which his fellow-citizens have elected him again and again. We have been greatly privileged to have him as one of the leaders in the public life of our town.

"Fortunately, Roy will continue to be with us after he has left the formal arena of town politics. The countless problems of the community which he has always made his own will continue to be his. Now he will have even more time to give even more of himself to the problems of his community - the schools, zoning and town-planning, the playgrounds, the churches and all the rest. We are fortunate that Roy is merely changing the sphere of his work for us, not retiring."

Better Automobile Parts

By the use of alloys of nickel with iron, steel, aluminum and copper, engineers have been able to produce parts for the modern automobile that not only are lighter and smaller but tougher and longer-lasting - parts that stand up under higher temperatures, higher stresses and faster speeds.

Large elm tree that was blown over onto house at 121 Main street during the wild northeast storm that struck the town last Saturday with pelting rain. Upper windows were smashed and part of the roof damaged. The tree department has removed the tree. (Look Photo)

Trees Damaged By Heavy Storm

Homes in many parts of the town were without heat and light last Saturday as a blustering northeaster whipped down large branches of trees carrying poles and power wires to the ground in one of the most severe storms the town has experienced for many years.

Andover did not suffer as much as many other communities, most of the damage being done to trees which broke wires as they fell across highways.

The storm was general all over New England bringing two to four inches of snow in some places and being described by the weather bureau as nearly as bad as the storm in late November, 1950.

At 121 Main st., a large elm was toppled over onto the house owned by Dr. William V. Emmons causing damage to windows and the roof. Other large branches of trees blocked traffic in some places until they were removed by the tree department.

Timely Tips

An old tooth brush makes a wonderfully handy tool for cleaning jewelry, combs or other hard-to-get-at places. Put a little household ammonia in soap suds, and you can whisk them clean in no time.

When things are too wet to iron, hang them up and let an electric fan blow on them. They'll be ready for ironing a lot sooner, and have a pleasant freshness about them.

Garden tools will winter well if they are scrubbed clean and all metal surfaces coated with oil before they are put away.

Try office desk blotters on your shelves under glassware and china. They're colorful, and will absorb any moisture that may collect.

That nasty onion odor can be completely obliterated from your hands. Just wash them in vinegar. To keep floors from being marred when moving furniture, slip old, heavy woolen socks over the legs.

A folded damp cloth placed under a mixing bowl will keep it from slipping while you are mixing.

When starch sticks and burns on the bottom of your iron, don't use an abrasive to clean it. Sprinkle a little baking soda on a damp cloth and rub the iron until clean. The soda won't scratch the ironing surface.

MAKES A DIFFERENCE

The young man had ardently proposed to the broker's daughter, but she could not make up her mind. "Will you be true to me?" she demanded.

"I'll be true as steel," he declared fervently.

"Common or preferred?" she mused.

Do You Know
Massachusetts?

Beginning Jan. 1, many Massachusetts employers will find their unemployment tax rate reduced from the present 2.7% to rates ranging between 1% and 2.5%, depending upon each employer's experience in keeping unemployment at a minimum. The unemployment compensation fund now stands well above the $218,180,840, or 6% of 1952 taxable wages, permitting return to the merit plan as specified in the law passed last session. Only employers whose record is too short to establish experience rates or those with too unstable employment will continue to pay the 2.7% rate.

The Harvard stadium, which this year is celebrating its 50th anniversary, was not only the first great American college arena, but also marked the beginning of reinforced concrete construction. Dartmouth won in 1903, Harvard in 1953.

The average number of hours worked in Massachusetts factories in September dropped to 39.6 per week, compared with 40.2 in August and 40.7 in September last year. On the other hand, 13 of the principal industrial centers showed average factory wage earnings above $70 per week. These were Beverly $81.49, Pittsfield $80.78, Lynn $80.50, Everett $79.24, Quincy $77.86, W. Springfield $75.21, Norwood $74.18, Peabody $74.17, Somerville $72.36, Worcester $71.27, Gardner $71.07, Framingham $70.33 and Fitchburg $70.29, as reported by the department of labor and industries.

Department store sales in Massachusetts in September totaled 2% above those a year ago and also were 2% more for the first nine months of 1953 than in the same period last year, as reported by the Federal Reserve bank of Boston.

Results indicate that Cape Cod and the Islands have made notable progress in extending their vacation season through September, following a record summer tourist business.

Traffic through the Sumner vehicular tunnel for the first eight months of 1953 exceeded 7 million vehicles, an increase of about 900,000 over a like period for 1952.

Analysis of the 1950 population statistics indicates that of the individuals in Massachusetts, 70.8% were born and still reside in the state; 12.9% were born in other states; 15.4% were foreign born and for 0.9% the birthplace was not reported. Forty years ago only 55.3% of the Commonwealth's population had been born in the state, 12.9% were born in other states and 31.5% were foreign born, as reported by the U. S. census.

STATE TO WIDEN MAIN STREET

at one time occupied by electric car tracks.

The grass plot extends 33 feet from the curb into the highway and abruptly narrows a 66 foot roadway to 33 feet. It has been the scene of many traffic accidents and its removal has been advocated by The Townsman as far back as the fall of 1949.

The spot forms a bottleneck on the heavily traveled Route 28, which frequently bears more than its normal flow of autos, trucks and buses at various times in the year. It is also one of the main arteries for weekend traffic to and from many northern mountain and lake resorts and it also takes a great part of the race track followers streaming back and forth to Rockingham.

Traffic headed north has to take a sharp swing to the right at this point in order to avoid traffic coming up the hill, and traffic moving south has to make a sharp swing westerly across the entrance of School street in order to avoid cars going north.

The board of selectmen, the board of public works, and the Essex County Associated Boards of Trade of which Walter E. Billings of Andover is president, have on various occasions advocated the widening of the street at this point. Officials of Phillips academy some years ago had an engineering firm make a study of the highway and prepare plans showing a road of two lanes with traffic islands.

The recent action by the state now assures residents of the town that this grass plot will be converted into a thoroughfare and a serious traffic hazard finally eliminated.

Legion Observes Armistice Day

The annual Armistice day observance was held yesterday by Andover post, 8, American Legion with memorial services in the morning and a banquet in the evening featured by a varied entertainment program.

In the morning members assembled at the post rooms at 10:30 o'clock and went by auto to the gates of Spring Grove cemetery from which they marched to the Legion lot where services were held at 11 o'clock.

These consisted of prayer, placing of a wreath, Taps, the firing of a volley and the reading of Gov. Herter's Armistice day proclamation by Commander Albert Cole Jr.

In the evening the banquet and program were held in the Central elementary school. The banquet started at 6:30 o'clock after which the members and their guests moved to the school's auditorium for the entertainment. The first part of the program consisted of a number of vocal selections by the Choraleers of Lawrence, and the second part of instrumental numbers by local talent.

During the program the winners in the four contests sponsored by the Legion post were announced. They were: Joan Robinson, essay; Gladys Thomson, poem; C. A. McCarthy, play; and Lesley Jane Westfall and Paula Williams, art.

HAPPY BIRTHDAY, JIM

Discuss Location Of New Route 28

A number of Andover businessmen and officials were present Tuesday at a meeting in Lawrence of representatives of all Greater Lawrence communities to discuss the location of the proposed new Route 28.

Some Methuen representatives favored the road coming in to their town on the west side of Lawrence, which would bring it through West Andover. Some of North Andover's representatives favored it going through their town and into the easterly section of Methuen, thereby giving them a new bridge over the Merrimack river.

North Andover representatives stated that they would make an effort to secure the bridge in any event and they believed it necessary to relieve the traffic congestion to and from that town for about four hours a day due to mill traffic.

Representatives of the Essex County Associated Boards of Trade, of which Walter E. Billings is president, have been working for some time now to have Route 110 re-located on the south side of the Merrimack and a bridge near the airport would be needed in that event.

Rep. J. Everett Collins told of having conferred with state engineers three times in the past week and that they have not made up their minds yet whether the road will go east or west of the city, but that the consensus appeared to be that it would be better on the west side because of the saving involved. At any rate, he said, it did not appear that anything will be done before 1956 because no other preparation has been made than an aerial survey. He reported that Route 110 has only come from Worcester to Lowell and the plan is to continue the route on the south side of the river so that it passes north of Haggett's pond and through Lawrence in the vicinity of White Pups bridge, on South Union street.

Those attending the meeting from Andover were: Selectmen Collins and Sidney P. White, Harold E. Heseltine, president of the Andover Board of Trade; Town Clerk George H. Winslow; James R. Mosher of the Andover Service club; and Walter E. Billings.
